These questions tell us something about how you respond in challenging situations. Please answer them using examples from your experiences in academic, social or working life

1. Please tell us about experiences and people that have over time shaped your decision to consider a management career within Unilever and in your chosen function in particular. What efforts have you made to test out your choices?(300 word limit imposed) *

I haven't had previous experiences personally with Unilever, except for that I applied for the Quest last year and wasn't accepted but I am persistent to join Unilever through other means other than the Quest as the feedback I got about the Quest competition was amazing and how much people managed to learn in such a small time. Also, being a user of several Unilever products myself, I would like to be taught what it takes to achieve such efficient processes to achieve such products and outcomes. Regarding my chosen function which is finance and accounting, I am very intrigued to learn more about the practical application of my study and what role do financial analysts play in a company and how do they handle the relation between finance and the rest of the fields such as marketing and operations for example. In addition, I am very interested to see how accounting information is interpreted into financial decisions critical to company success.

2. Using an example of a time when you were in a new environment and had to achieve a task, please describe a) how you established and used a network of contacts, and b) how you set about influencing people, to help you achieve your task. (500 word limit imposed) *

Recently I've been chosen as an upper board member for a new organization called PhLink Cairo, which is one of the first student consultancies in Egypt. I've never been in an upper board before or head of a committee in a club. I have been project leader in academics but that is a different issue. I tried to talk and get advice from my heads in other clubs, searching for the optimal way to deal with members and keep them committed and motivated. I with the rest of the board currently are trying to achieve a harmonic environment between the members and us with clear set goals and a strict time frame. The project is doing really well so far.

3. Tell us about an occasion when you have taken the initiative to learn and develop yourself in significantly new ways. Why did you want to do this, what did you do and what was the result?(300 word limit imposed) *

When I first entered my university, German University in Cairo, I didn't really have much experience except for being an assistant supervisor at AUC Junior Summer Programme. I was very eager to learn and gain experiences not only on the academic level but personal one as well. I set out to enrich my mind and soul with a diverse selection of clubs determined to join and learn something new from each club. So through my three years at university this is a briefing of the experiences I got political awareness through MUN. Members motivation and cohesiveness, workshop preparation and evaluation schemes through Nebny GUC HR. Professionalism, proposal preparation and sponsor meeting through TEDx GUC fundraising. Delivering your point of view successfully without hostility through TIQ (debate club). Attempting to make a difference in the world through Bdaya Care days every Friday to educate orphans about values. The result of all of this is that I have developed into a much better person than I first entered university able to deal with diversity and challenges.

4. Tell us about a time when you saw the opportunity to really make a difference for the future of an activity, team or organization. What did you do, what obstacles did you overcome, and what happened as a result? (300 word limit imposed) *

Again i am going to refer to PhLink Cairo, i applied to this student consultancy as a founding member in the upper board because i saw an opportunity to change the way students are looked at in the business world when they are undergraduates in order to be seen as an asset and not as a burden. Currently we are trying to overcome issues that any startup might face such as demotivation, lack of experience and barriers to entry in general.

5. Tell us about a time when you have had to analyse and understand a complex situation in order to make decisions and put a plan into action. What did you do and what was the outcome? (300 word limit imposed) *

A research paper was needed from our team in the marketing course and the topic was new to us. It was about boycotting we needed to gather enough information about the subject to determine the main points that should be included in the paper and also to display the information in a new way by changing how content is grouped under headlines. We got 19.25/20
