Interests Activities

We are interested in what you do / have done outside your academic work.

Please record your non-academic interests and activities stating whether at school, college, university or elsewhere. Record any positions of responsibility you have held in any aspect of your life. (300 word limit imposed) *

Being an active and energetic person, I handled many responsibilities in my life. The representative of class in school, committee member of technical symposium in college and member of fun-club in company are some of them.

These questions tell us something about how you respond in challenging situations. Please answer them using examples from your experiences in academic, social or working life

1. Please tell us about experiences and people that have over time shaped your decision to consider a management career within Unilever and in your chosen function in particular. What efforts have you made to test out your choices?(300 word limit imposed) *

I chose finance and accounting because financial wizards do not have jobs that are challenging, but they are also amongst the top paid professionals in the industry. Finance is the backbone of any company and financiers are the ones that keep it running smoothly. finance graduates have a variety of careers to choose from such as insurance and investment banking. and i enjoyed working in treasury department in last summer.

2. Using an example of a time when you were in a new environment and had to achieve a task, please describe a) how you established and used a network of contacts, and b) how you set about influencing people, to help you achieve your task. (500 word limit imposed) * in my first semester, we were having only one day remaining to write and prepare a full paper project we were a group of four we finally decided that we will not do it there is no time after a few hours we were talking to each others i told them lets make it, its better to do anything than nothing at all. we stayed up for about 20 hours in a continuous working ask a lot of our friends to help us we all began to lose hope i tried to motivate them even if we scored half of the grade it still be better than a zero and finally thanks God we lost one point only of the full grade.

3. Tell us about an occasion when you have taken the initiative to learn and develop yourself in significantly new ways. Why did you want to do this, what did you do and what was the result?(300 word limit imposed) *

i was dreaming to work in Germany i recognized as a first step to have a easy life there i must speak and understand German very fluently i decided to go to Goethe Institut i am still learning and attending as i want to achieve one of my goals.

4. Tell us about a time when you saw the opportunity to really make a difference for the future of an activity, team or organization. What did you do, what obstacles did you overcome, and what happened as a result? (300 word limit imposed) *

The bank in which I worked instituted a policy that centralized the lending process. An application was to be taken from the client and sent off to be approved/declined, processed, prepared, and returned to the branch to be signed by the client. While the process was streamlined, it also took away valuable face-to-face knowledge about the client and the loan. If the employee did not have any prior lending experience, he or she couldn't answer simple loan questions from the client. While I appreciated the newly created time on my schedule, I felt that the clients were being slighted. I did adjust quickly to the new procedure and did my best to help those around me by sharing my knowledge.

5. Tell us about a time when you have had to analyse and understand a complex situation in order to make decisions and put a plan into action. What did you do and what was the outcome? (300 word limit imposed) *

1. Define the problem to be solved and decision to be made. For a project in an introductory management class the assignment was to report on the corporate structure and financial situation of a couple of companies. The decision to be made was what companies to profile and how to present the information. 2. Gather the necessary information. Some group members wanted to report on automakers, while others wanted to do electronics firms. We gathered information on both types of company. List all possible choices. We made lists of companies in both categories. 4. Consider possible outcomes for each choice. We decided that a report about car companies could have a positive outcome, but one about electronics firms might be more futuristic with high-tech products such as HDTV, video game consoles, and DVD players. 5. Check out how you feel about each of the choices. Given that this was a group project, we had to consider the feelings of all group members. 6. Relate the choices to your values and priorities. Again, all group members weighed in on their values and priorities. 7. From the possible alternatives, choose one. We decided that we'd do electronics companies because we could bring in products from each company and show what lies ahead. 8. Commit yourself to your chosen decision and disregard the others. Concentrate your energies in one direction. Once we made our decision, we focused all our work on electronic forms. 9. Take steps to turn your decision into positive action. All group members got interested in how the companies were doing. 10. Evaluate your progress from time to time. Change your decision if necessary. We were pleased with our progress and didn't feel a need to change our decision. We got an A on the project.
